AMAQY (Yonnaise Local Community Centers Association) is an association of the city of La Roche sur Yon in Vendée (85). La Roche-sur-Yon, the Vendée capital, now has a population of nearly 55,000 and a suburban area of over 100,000.

The city of La Roche sur Yon has entrusted the AMAQY with the management of 9 Community Centers, 6 recreation centers, 8 youth clubs, grocery stores in solidarity...to develop its project of animation and social link. The AMAQY is also supported by the CNAF and the CAF of the Vendée for projects of neighborhood houses, family projects, solidarity actions, education and support to the parental function.

Each of the 9 neighborhood houses is animated by an animation committee, composed of inhabitants and an animation team that implements an animation project in line with the resources and needs of the neighborhood. This project is carried out jointly with professionals, elected officials and residents of the neighbourhoods, with the support of the various participants present on the territory (social workers, sports and cultural associations...)

A Community Center is an equipment with a family and social, cultural vocation, that welcomes all generations. It offers a range of individual and collective services to families (reception for young children, adolescents and young adults, leisure activities, support for families) and promotes social exchanges. It is a place of meetings, of expression of the inhabitants, of creation of projects. Residents and associations meet there for all types of social, family, sports, cultural activities... This association brings together more than 8,000 members who participate in the activities and animation of Community Centers.
